

LAWYER'S TONGUE

GASTERIA BICOLOR

A relatively rare, aloe type plant, with long tongue-like leaves that are spotted with white dots. Leaves can change color hues depending on environment, season and sunlight

Water when soil is completely dried out, and very sparingly in the winter months

Thrives in semi-shade avoiding direct sun exposure

Can propagate by separation of suckers (offshoots)

Can be toxic