Birch bark biting was once a thriving art form and valued cultural method of recording stories and creating templates for beading, embroidery and quill work patterns. These works of art were also created in friendly competition within communities. Stories and examples of its history exist in the nations from coast to coast.

Executive Strategy

The Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy 2019-2022 is built on respecting culture and nature, generating revenues, creating new businesses and new jobs. This strategy supports collaboration between the Indigenous tourism industry and our partners.

The Indigenous Tourism Association of Canada (ITAC) and Travel Manitoba have partnered to grow the Indigenous tourism industry in Manitoba. Under the guidance of these leaders, this strategy is designed to support Manitoba becoming a leader in Indigenous tourism experiences, marketing and management.

The Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy is created to respond to the mounting demand for authentic, meaningful experiences through development and marketing of Indigenous experiences that are market and export-ready.

Goals of the Strategy

- Increase number of market and export-ready Indigenous-owned tourism businesses from 28 to 38 by 2021
- A goal of 85 authentic Indigenous tourism businesses in Manitoba by 2023/24.
- Increase number of Indigenous tourism jobs from 1,359 full time year-round jobs by 4% per year to 1,652 by 2023/24.
- Increase Indigenous tourism revenues economic output and GDP by 2023/24. Percentage increase by 2023/24 will be based on baseline employment numbers determined by upcoming Conference Board of Canada data expected by November 2018.

The strategy promotes collaboration to fulfill leadership, product development, and marketing as our pillars:

Leadership

Leading the Growth of the Indigenous Tourism Economy in Manitoba

Product Development

Developing the Market-Readiness of Authentic Indigenous Tourism Experiences

Marketing

Situation Analysis

Global Tourism

Tourism is one of the world's fastest growing industries and one of the world's most competitive.

International tourist arrivals grew 6% in the first half (H1) of 2018 compared to H1 in 2017.¹ This growth, combined with growing interest in Indigenous tourism experiences, provides Manitoba with many possibilities to develop authentic, unique and engaging tourism experiences.

- In 2015, the United Nations World Tourism Organization (UNWTO) forecasted that global international tourist arrivals will reach 1.8 billion in 2030 (3.3% annual growth).²
- Tourism has demonstrated virtually uninterrupted growth over the last seven decades.³

Tourism to Canada

The first half of 2018 saw a 1.7% rise in the number of tourists compared to the first half of 2017⁴, which year in total saw a record-breaking 20.85 million visitors.⁵ Tourism exports increased 3.2% in the first half of 2018⁶ over the same in 2017, which year saw in total saw a 6.4% increase over 2016 and a total of $21.3 billion in tourism exports.⁷

Canada's growth and economic performance in the tourism industry during the last ten years has produced:

- 733,800 jobs in Canada in 2018⁸ and over 200,000 tourism business establishments nationally.⁹
- International tourism revenues accounted for $9.4 billion in the first half of 2018, up 3.2% from the first half of 2017¹⁰ and projected to land well over the 2013 total of $16.4 billion (the last year for which there are published metrics).¹¹
- The Canadian tourism Gross Domestic Product (GDP) increased 6.2% In the first half of 2018 over the same period in 2017¹², which year in total amounted to $35.37 billion.¹³

Indigenous Tourism in Canada

Across this country Indigenous tourism contributes:

- $4.03 million in direct output¹⁴
- 1.8 billion in national GDP¹⁵
- $1.2 billion in wages and salaries¹⁶
- Over 1,800 Indigenous-owned tourism businesses, employing 41,153 people¹⁷

Although there is growing global interest in Indigenous tourism that enlarges the market opportunity, travelers globally tend to be less aware of the Indigenous cultural tourism opportunities in Canada.

Tourism in Manitoba^{18,19}

- Canadian visitors to Manitoba spent $1.5 billion in 2016
- Resident travelers from Manitoba represented over 90% of total visitation
- Overseas visitors delivered 8% of total expenditures
- The United States, Manitoba's largest source market of international visitors, contributed 10% of total expenditures
- 58% of the province's tourism revenues are generated by Manitobans with revenues and visitation expected to increase
- Manitoba residents spend $100 per person per visit
- Overseas visitors spend $1,636 per person per visit

Indigenous Population in Manitoba

- Manitoba is home to 63 First Nation communities from five different linguistic groups (Cree, Ojibway, Dakota, Ojibway-Cree and Dene)
- There are seven different treaties with First Nations across the province, and five communities are not a signatory to any of the treaties
- In 2011, 1 in 7 Indigenous people in Canada lived in Manitoba
- 17% of Manitoba's total population is Indigenous (114,230 First Nations people, 78,835 Métis and 580 Inuit)
- Winnipeg represents the largest urban Indigenous population in Canada
- Indigenous workers include over 75,000 individuals within the Canadian tourism labour force and comprise 12.8% or 8,025 people in the Manitoba tourism workforce

Travel Manitoba is committed to leverage the growing interest in Indigenous tourism experiences by:

- Building leadership capacity
- Supporting the development of existing and new Indigenous tourism experiences
- Leading marketing excellence, and
- Advancing partnerships to grow the Indigenous tourism industry

“Travel Manitoba will be one of the leaders in telling the Indigenous story of Manitoba to the world.”²⁰

²⁰Travel Manitoba Business Plan 2018-2021.

Why does Manitoba need an Indigenous Tourism Strategy?

“Indigenous tourism experiences are an important part of the Manitoba tourism experience.”

– Indigenous Tourism Association of Canada & Travel Manitoba, Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Summit Presentation, May 31, 2018.

- The Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy 2019-2022 provides the opportunity to grow Indigenous tourism spending from $61.2 million in 2018 by 4% annually to $71.6 million by 2022. This strategy will support our tourism industry, partners and governments to collaborate to grow the Indigenous tourism economy in Manitoba.
- Indigenous tourism has the power to change perspectives, preserve culture, language and traditions and provide our Indigenous communities and Indigenous tourism entrepreneurs with the opportunity to lead reclamation of our space in early and contemporary history.
- Welcoming visitors to our territories has been an integral part of our traditions and culture since the beginning of time.
- This strategy acknowledges truth and reconciliation efforts and aligns with guidance provided by the United Nations Declaration for the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.
- Manitoba, with its diverse landscapes and Indigenous cultures has many possibilities to develop unique tourism experiences to share with our visitors, while supporting the values, interests, and needs of our Indigenous communities.
- The growing interest in Indigenous tourism experiences provides us with the opportunity to improve the socio-economic environment for Indigenous peoples throughout Manitoba.
- Indigenous partners have expressed their desire to leverage the growing interest in Indigenous experiences to achieve positive outcomes. Achieving economic success supports their values related to cultural preservation, social and community enhancement, and environmental conservation.

Memorandum between Travel Manitoba and ITAC

- Travel Manitoba established a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with ITAC in September, 2017 to foster growth of the Indigenous tourism sector in the province.
- The MOU sets the foundation for partnerships with other organizations interested in advancing economic development and tourism growth that supports Indigenous communities throughout Manitoba.
- The Calls to Action of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission will be key considerations in advancing an Indigenous tourism growth strategy in Manitoba.
- The objectives of the MOU are aligned with ITAC's strategic pillars in their Five-Year Strategic Plan "The Path Forward" 2016-2021, including: Leadership, Development, Marketing and Partnerships.
- The MOU provides tactics for each of the ITAC pillars.
- This new Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy aligns with the Travel Manitoba and ITAC MOU and ITAC's strategic direction.

Chronology of Indigenous Tourism Strategy Development in Manitoba

1990s

- A provincially focused Indigenous tourism organization was established in Manitoba, but discontinued activities due to a lack of resources.

2003

- The government of Manitoba completed the initial planning of an Indigenous tourism strategy, however; it was not implemented.

September, 2017

- Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) signed by Travel Manitoba and ITAC to support growing the Indigenous Tourism Sector.

October & November, 2017

- ITAC & Travel Manitoba hosted a series of Indigenous industry forums for all First Nation and Métis communities, regional associations, entrepreneurs and economic development partners. The goal was to highlight opportunities, lay the groundwork for a Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Association, and gather input from participants.

Outcome: 97.6% of participants indicated that they would support the development of an Indigenous-led, Indigenous tourism industry association for Manitoba.

- Findings from the forums reveal strong consensus amongst respondents on the key issues, including:
 - a lack of small business operation skills
 - a need for front-line staff training
 - an opportunity to preserve and promote culture
 - challenges with seasonality
 - the need for marketing support
 - needed improvements in market-readiness
 - the opportunity to position Indigenous tourism as a key differentiator for Manitoba

May 31, 2018

- Power of Indigenous Tourism Summit in Winnipeg, hosted by ITAC & Travel Manitoba, focused on exploring the areas of development, marketing, and authenticity of Indigenous tourism through workshops and presentations. The summit outlined opportunities from an industry perspective, potential branding opportunities and ideas, and recommendations for next steps.

December, 2018

- Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy will be presented for approval by the Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Advisory Committee. This strategy is designed to guide the direction of the Indigenous tourism industry, focus operational plans and align with ITAC and Travel Manitoba's goals in leadership, partnership, marketing and development.

Future - Expected Outcomes:

- The Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Strategy identifies goals, objectives, and strategic actions. The strategy focuses on key target markets interested in Indigenous tourism experiences. Many of these travelers tend to travel farther, stay longer, and spend more in a destination.

Challenges and Opportunities

The Indigenous Tourism Association of Canada and Travel Manitoba partnered to facilitate an Indigenous tourism issues exploration session during the Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Summit, May 31, 2018.²¹

Participants expressed openness to:

- increased Indigenous tourism
- the opportunity to educate and to share Indigenous culture
- promote economic development and employment

Concerns were raised regarding potential threats to important Indigenous cultural values and potential increased pressures on environmental integrity, if tourism growth is not managed.

Challenges

- Access to resources, training, business supports, sustainable funding, infrastructure
- Limited research and awareness of the Indigenous tourism opportunity
- Generally lower levels of product market-readiness
- Lack of a coordinated approach to leadership and development
- Infrastructure challenges (e.g.: access)
- Lack of awareness of Manitoba's Indigenous 'Unique Selling Proposition'

Challenge: Perceptions exist that Indigenous experiences are "Homogeneous".

Manitoba has the greatest population and diversity of Indigenous peoples in Canada providing the opportunity to showcase a wide range of cultural experiences across the province.

Opportunities

- Continued growth in global tourism
- Growing interest in Indigenous tourism experiences
- Growing interest in authentic, engaging, unique experiences
- Diversity of Indigenous peoples and culture in Manitoba
- Existing market-awareness of eco-tourism attractions in Churchill
- Diversity of multifaceted landscapes, ecosystems, and natural places
- A strong urban Indigenous population concentrating human and cultural resources

Differentiators for Manitoba

- The diversity of Indigenous cultures, historical events, stories, and landscapes across Manitoba are unique to this province and cannot be replicated by competitive destinations
- Travel Manitoba has successfully been building strong brand recognition of globally-competitive attractions in Northern Manitoba, a well-known eco-tourism destination
- The diversity and density of the Indigenous peoples and their culture in the major urban centre of Winnipeg and across the province present a rich pool of human resources and unique cultural heritage
- The July, 2018 UNESCO Pimachiowin Aki announcement of Canada's first mixed cultural and natural World Heritage site supports positioning Manitoba as a unique Indigenous tourism destination in the longer-term²²
- Winnipeg is home to one of the largest urban Indigenous populations in Canada, and a centre of modern representations of art and music

There's a tremendously strong Indigenous culture in Manitoba, and there's a certain desire for economic development among communities and entrepreneurs, so we see the potential for Indigenous tourism substantially growing in Manitoba."

Vision for Indigenous Tourism in Manitoba

Our Vision

A prosperous Indigenous tourism industry across Manitoba, providing authentic, unique, engaging experiences.

The Indigenous tourism industry in Manitoba will embrace the following accomplishments in support of developing tourism competitive advantage throughout the province.

This Vision is developed with guidance from the Indigenous Tourism Association of Canada, Travel Manitoba, the Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Advisory Committee, and relevant secondary research resources.

ENGAGED AND ALIGNED INDUSTRY

The new Indigenous Tourism Association of Manitoba will instill trust in the industry which is eager to engage, collaborate, lead and partner with tourism in Manitoba.

OPTIMIZE ROI

The Indigenous tourism sector will see significant return on its investment in tourism. Accommodation rate and occupancy will see a steady increase. New tourism product will be developed and thriving. Shoulder and off-season performance will be significantly improved.

MANITOBA'S INDIGENOUS TOURISM BRAND

Develop an Indigenous tourism brand to resonate with travelers and tell Indigenous tourism stories of Manitoba.

MANITOBA 2024 INDIGENOUS TOURISM VISION

FUNDING

Funding partners will see return on their Indigenous tourism investment. Funding will be stable and predictable. Diverse and alternative funding sources will be considered.

TOURISM MANAGEMENT

The Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Association will be seen as an effective manager of all aspects of tourism. Manitoba will be successful in attracting investment in Indigenous tourism development opportunities.

COMMUNITY BENEFIT

Manitoba's Indigenous communities will realize benefits in alignment with the United Nations Global Compact of the United Nations Declaration for the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.

ENGAGED COMMUNITY

Manitoba's Indigenous communities, business community and governments will understand the value and potential of Indigenous tourism and get behind initiatives. Indigenous pride will be evident and investments will be made in private and public sector product and service.

Markets of Greatest Potential: Visitor Demand

Indigenous Tourism in Canada

Canada's strongest markets for Indigenous tourism are local, the United States and Europe (particularly France and Germany) with growing interest from Asia.

Below are international survey results. Manitoba does not currently market to all of the following countries, but the survey results are useful for Manitoba's Indigenous tour operators to consider in future.²³

	CANADA	UNITED STATES	FRANCE	GERMANY	UNITED KINGDOM	CHINA	JAPAN	AUSTRALIA
Immediate potential for Canada in the next two years (tourists)	9,571,000	53,010,000	4,156,500	5,098,500	4,814,000	10,930,000	2,540,000	2,665,000
Immediate potential for Indigenous tourism in the next two years (tourists)	2,584,000	17,493,500	2,618,500	2,396,500	1,781,000	3,825,500	533,500	746,000
Travelers in the past three years that took part in an Indigenous experience	9%	18%	37%	33%	19%	27%	7%	16%
Percentage of market interested in Indigenous cultural experiences	27%	33%	63%	47%	37%	35%	21%	28%

²³Destination Canada: 2019 Market Snapshots: Understanding the Opportunity for Indigenous Tourism Business in Canada

Question posed for the first category: "Realistically, how likely are you to take a vacation trip to Canada in the next two years?"

Question posed for the fifth category: "If you were to take a vacation trip to Canada in the next two years, which of the following Canadian travel destinations are you likely to visit?"

ITAC Key Performance Indicators²⁴

Revenues: $400 million increase in annual Canadian GDP from Indigenous tourism from $1.8 billion in 2018 to $2.2 billion by 2024.

Jobs: Significantly increase the number of Indigenous tourism workers from 41,153 in 2018 to 49,383 by 2024.

Businesses: 61 new Indigenous tourism operators at export-ready status, from 139 in 2018 to 200 by 2024.

Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Experiences - Supply

Indigenous Tourism Businesses in Manitoba

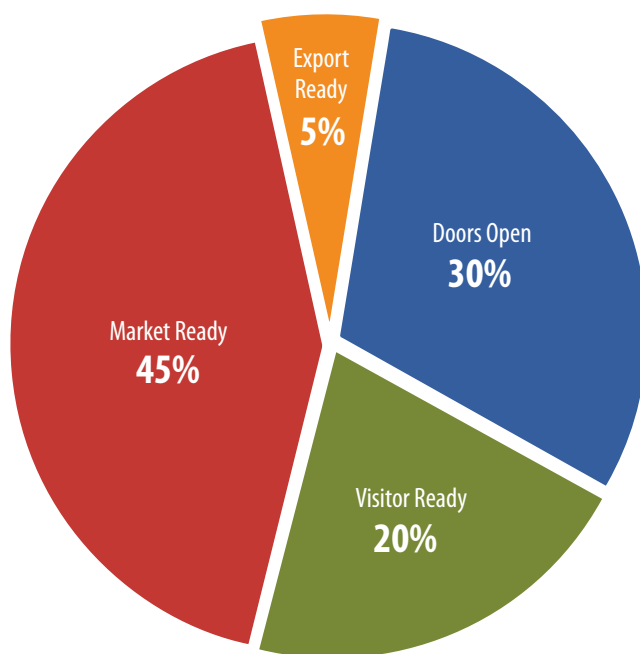

Probe Research conducted a study²⁵ in May 2018 identifying 56 Indigenous tourism ventures in Manitoba and indicating their market-readiness levels.

Market-Readiness:

- Doors Open 30%
- Visitor Ready 20%
- Market Ready 45%
- Export Ready 5%

Composition:

- Cultural Attractions 29%
- Accommodations 22%
- Adventure Operations 20%
- Retail 17%
- Other (including casinos) 12%

Experiences should be designed to ensure market-readiness aligns with the expectations of key target markets²⁶. For example:

- Travelers from the regional Manitoba market may be accepting of 'Doors Open' and 'Visitor Ready' experiences.
- Travelers from other Canadian Provinces and the United States may prefer 'Market Ready' over lower levels of market-readiness.
- International long-haul travelers are more likely to expect 'Export Ready' experiences and higher service levels.

Travelers interested in Export-Ready experiences tend to travel farther, stay longer, and spend more in a destination.

Market-Readiness: meets Internationally recognized industry standards and quality assurance.

²⁵Destination Canada: 2019 Market Snapshots: Understanding the Opportunity for Indigenous Tourism Business in Canada

²⁶ITAC, Indigenous Cultural Experiences, National Guidelines.

Market-Readiness

For a tourism product or experience to be considered “market ready” it must meet internationally recognized industry standards which apply to any tourism product (Indigenous and non-Indigenous). Within Indigenous cultural tourism, it is important to protect the authenticity of the experience to showcase the value of participation and differentiate from competitive experiences.²⁷

Market-readiness descriptions may be found in the appendices.

Destination Canada, our key International marketing partner, present their ‘Canadian Signature Experiences Collection’ to set market-readiness standards for those who aspire to export-readiness in leisure tourism.²⁸ Achieving CSE status should be a key objective of Indigenous tourism businesses.

Strategy Pillars

To be successful, this strategy requires collaboration between Indigenous tourism operators, industry partners, and our partners in various levels of government to fulfill leadership, product development, and marketing requirements as our strategy pillars.

To move Manitoba forward on this Indigenous Tourism Strategy, ITAC, Travel Manitoba, the Manitoba Indigenous Tourism Advisory Committee, partner interviews, combined with robust analysis of the tourism industry contributed to identifying the following strategic priorities:

Priority #1: Leadership

Lead the Growth of the Indigenous Tourism Economy in Manitoba

- Identify our partners, roles and responsibilities, resources, research requirements, investment sources and opportunities.

Priority #2: Product Development

Develop the Market-Readiness of authentic Indigenous Tourism Experiences

- Improve accessibility, build capacity, develop market and export-ready experiences, support services and amenities.

Priority #3: Marketing

Share Our Story

- Establish positioning and marketing strategy, coordinate communications for advocacy and awareness, establish performance measures, ensure return on investment.

Each priority contains initiatives that will guide the strategy towards greater tourism success.

Priority Initiatives

LEADERSHIP	TIMELINE

MARKETING	TIMELINE
1. Undertake brand positioning to align messaging across partners and support marketing partnerships.	2019-2020
2. Update research and define desired key target markets with a particular focus on medium and longer-haul travelers.	2019-2020
3. Promote, inform, and showcase the 'value of tourism' advocacy to local residents and communities, public sector partners, and tourism entrepreneurs.	2019-2022
4. Ensure entrepreneurs/communities have multiple points-of-access to the marketing network.	2019-2022
5. Integrate with existing tourism experiences (activities, attractions, festivals & events) that encourage visitors to stay more than a day in the region; increasing benefits to Indigenous tourism businesses.	2019-2022
6. Develop new Indigenous-focused tourism itineraries, packages, and partnerships (activities, attractions, festivals & events, Pow Wow Trail) that encourage visitors to explore under-utilized, but market-ready areas of the Province.	2019-2020

Lead: ITAC, Travel Manitoba, Tourism Advisory Committee

Partners: Destination Canada, Indigenous Community Leadership, Manitoba Government, Community Futures, Economic Development Organizations, Tourism Regions & Community Destination Marketing/Management Organizations, Funding Agencies, Federal Departments & Agencies, Educational Institutions, Local/Regional Governments, Industry Associations, Chambers of Commerce.

"As the inventory of Indigenous Manitoba tourism experiences continues to grow, fostered by this partnership between ITAC and Travel Manitoba, our province will boast even more iconic Canadian experiences to attract international visitors".
