The Wake County Juvenile Crime Prevention Council (JCPC) seeks proposals for community-based programs targeting youth 6-20 years old who are referred from juvenile court services and/or youth ages 6-17 who are at-risk for delinquency and referred by other referral sources in Wake County. The JCPC anticipates an allocation of $1,849,659.00 for fiscal year 2024-2025 to fund the program types identified below. Applicants must provide a 30% local match (cash or in-kind) to be considered for funding.

Contingent on funding availability and in consideration of the reviewed Department of Public Safety (DPS) data and other data provided by community leaders, the JCPC will consider proposals from non-profit and governmental agencies providing the following program types and services:

B. PRIORITY CONSIDERATION

Programs that address the above referenced risk and needs factors will receive priority consideration.

North Carolina General Statute 143B-851(b) states “Each County Council shall ensure that appropriate intermediate dispositional options are available and shall prioritize funding for dispositions of intermediate and community-level sanctions for court-adjudicated juveniles under minimum standards adopted by the Section.” Proposals that ensure appropriate community-based intermediate dispositions, per legislative mandate, will receive priority. Based on current data, programs in Wake County are serving significant numbers of at-risk youth who have no court involvement. Considering the relatively small proportion of the Wake County youth population referred to court services, it is in the interest of the Wake JCPC to support programs serving at-risk youth with no court involvement, therefore, these program types are strongly encouraged to apply.

The JCPC reviews juvenile delinquency trend data each year. In addition to the risk and needs factors identified above, the Council is also interested in the program’s ability to address two additional areas of concern among the juvenile population: racial disparities and access to mental health/substance abuse prevention interventions. Therefore, the JCPC is particularly interested in programs that seek to work with youth who are impacted by these issues as well as show how they plan to integrate strategies to mediate the impact of racial disparities and mental health/substance abuse prevention into their programming.
